

SIMS EXPRESS

January 2017

"25th year - An odyssey of persistence"

Volume 8

26th JANUARY 2017

India's 67th Republic Day was celebrated in all its glory at SIMS on 26th January 2017 marked by unfurling of the Indian National flag followed by beautiful rendition of patriotic songs by Sur. Brig. (Dr.) Rajiv Divekar, Director of SIMS gave an elaborate and an inspiring speech to the students of SIMS on this august occasion.

The highlight of the morning was the introduction of the new Student Council to the Junior Batch.

PRAWAY INITIATIVE

On the glorious occasion of our country's 67th Republic Day, we at Pralay invited 80+ children from Khadki and the students of Project Vidyottama to be a part of our campus celebrations. Their arrival was followed by a cake cutting ceremony, a sumptuous lunch and interaction with the student managers on campus. The afternoon was spent catching up on animated shows with their friends in the auditorium.

HANDWRITING ANALYSIS WORKSHOP

Graphology (Handwriting Analysis) workshop was conducted by the Editorial and the Media Relations Cell of SIMS on 21st January 2017. It was successfully delivered by Mr. Milind Rajore, a renowned Graphologist along with his team of associates.

A person's handwriting is as unique as their personality, which makes it tempting to connect the two. Mr. Rajore explained 150 eager students the nuances of the science. Symbols are as unique as our own DNA, which was beautifully expressed by Mr. Rajore in the workshop.

PANEL DISCUSSION - DEMONETISATION

SIMSETT conducted the Panel Discussion on the topic "The Implementation of Demonetization" on 7th Jan 2017. It was an intellectually stimulating event honoured by the presence of Mr. Frank Hoffman, Regional Director of Indo-German Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Abhay Tilak, Eminent Economist from Indian School of Political Economics who addressed the gathering.

In remembrance ...

Harshvardhan Singh Raghav

Harsh was one of a kind. Never before had I seen a guy so chirpy, so cheerful, so full of life.....everytime, all the time. In him I also finally found a guy who was as mad and passionate about Manchester United as I was. We could spend hours together in the evening doing nothing other than discussing United, dissing each other, pulling each other's leg, sometimes even discussing technology and bikes (what with him being a gadget freak and me being a bike aficionado). He loved his family so much that wouldn't go to sleep without talking to them every night. He had a penchant for the big things, HE LIVED LIFE KING SIZE and was always - the life of the party. With him, I've lost my best bud, my brother and my confidante. Rest in Peace Harsh, you're never alone! - Abhishek Nair

Its almost been a month and it still feels like we conversed yesterday. Harsh was a person of an incredible vibe, a person with an ability to overawe any gathering which has always been a rare attribute. Looking back, I am honoured to have known harsh. Some unfulfilled promises but we'll get there. You are missed and will be remembered forever
- Paurush Yadav

I met Harsh when I used to go swimming. And even amongst the few conversations we had, I could sense that he was a cheerful person. His smile said it all. I hope you find peace wherever you are... still loved, still missed and always in our hearts.
-Archana Nair

There's not been a single day since we lost him that he is not fondly remembered. Harsh was one of the most positive souls that one could come across. His spirit was at times overwhelming but you couldn't just say hi to him and walk away. I was always bound to sit down with him and talk out anything that was bothering me and he would just culminate the discussion with a whiff of humour and wit leaving the other person in splits. A very deep loss but he will always be remembered with a happy heart since that was one thing he lived for "Keeping the rest of the world happy while he kept his issues aside at all times" - Nikita Singh

He was the sort of person who'd ALWAYS have a smile (a pretty charming one!) on his face no matter what the situation was. And that "chill yaaaaaar.." attitude. He was one of the RARE few people in this college I actually enjoyed hanging out with. I still remember how he used to call me and ask me to send assignments and notes on such a 'short notice'. Crazy he was!
Hey Harsh, wherever you are, I really really hope you are happy. Just know that we all miss you a lot. Lots of love bro :*

And yo, GGMU! - Tanya Sud

Harsh was a kind and helpful person. The greatest pool partner i could ever have. I'll miss everything starting from random late nights to the many hours just chilling and having thsoe deep convrsations. You'll be missed. Hope the next realm is kinder wherever you are... Shine on, you crazy diamond!- Utsav Sood

Darth vader haha ! I could zero in on a space concept of 'nubulae' Nebula means cloud in Latin. These are areas in which stars are being created or where a star has died. The cosmic clouds come in all shapes and sizes and are made out of interstellar dust and gases. There is a Christmas tree nebula, a horsehead, a unicorn, a hand, fried egg and lots more. These beautiful clouds which are not visible to the naked eye really highlight the fact there is a lot more happening in the night sky than you can see.

And on momentum aspect there's nothing i could find anything.

This was the last thing he sent me. He lived longer than this life had to offer. He still does.

- Jahanvi Sharma

We have done a lot of things that we'll never regret. The good ones or the bad ones, moments we will never forget. It is hard for us to cheer up, because we are feeling blue. By accepting the fact that our life is never the same without you. You have been here with us through our ups and downs. You will be willing to walk on by the outskirts of all towns. Just help us get through our problems all along. Now that you are already gone, I guess we have to be strong
- Vasundhara Dhawan